

1860

Back

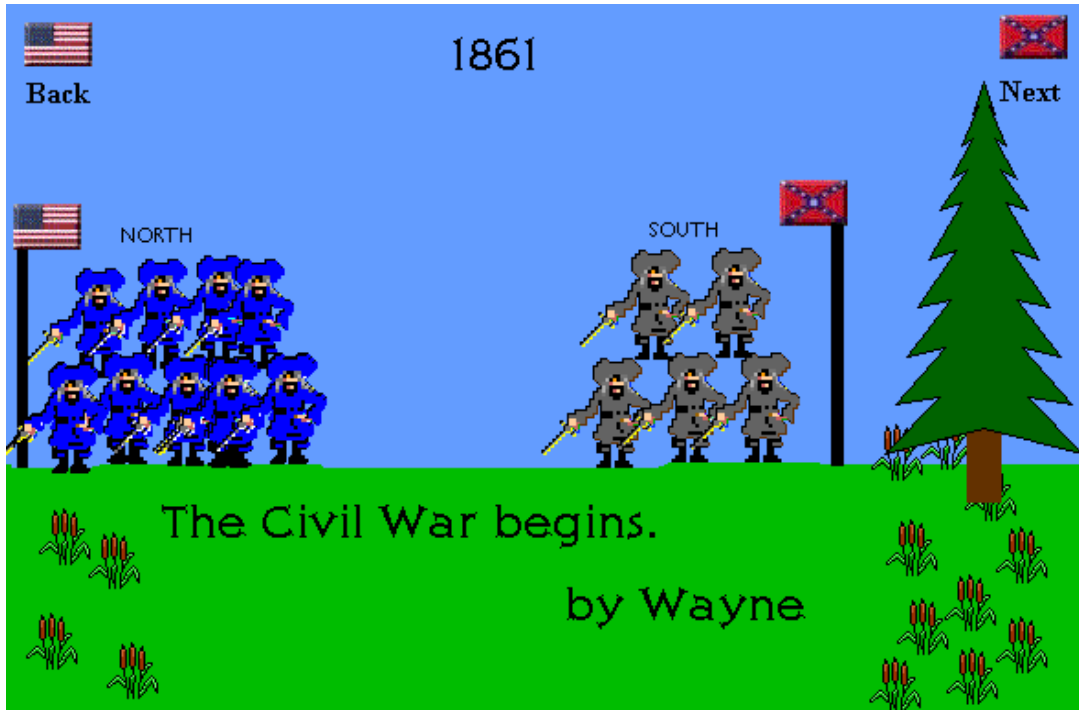

Next

VOTE TODAY

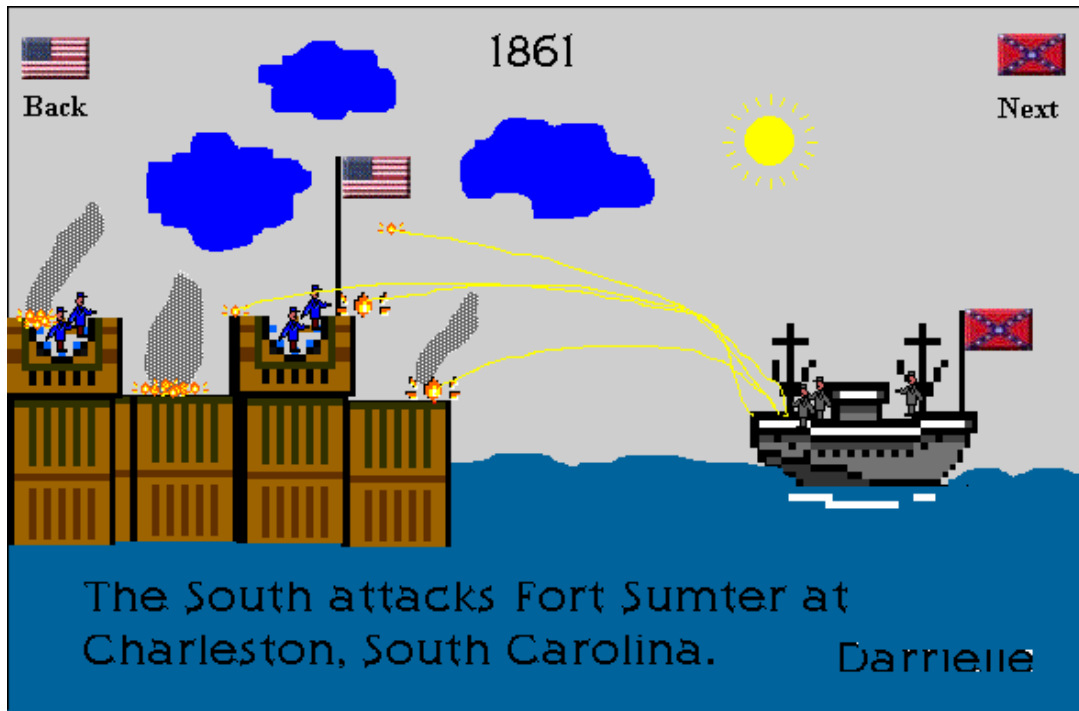

Vote for Honest Abe for PRESIDENT

Abraham Lincoln elected president.
Southern states begin to secede.
by Amanda

Home

Home

1862

Back

Next

Battle of Antietam

by George H.

Home

1862

Back

Next

Monitor and Merrimack naval battle.
George

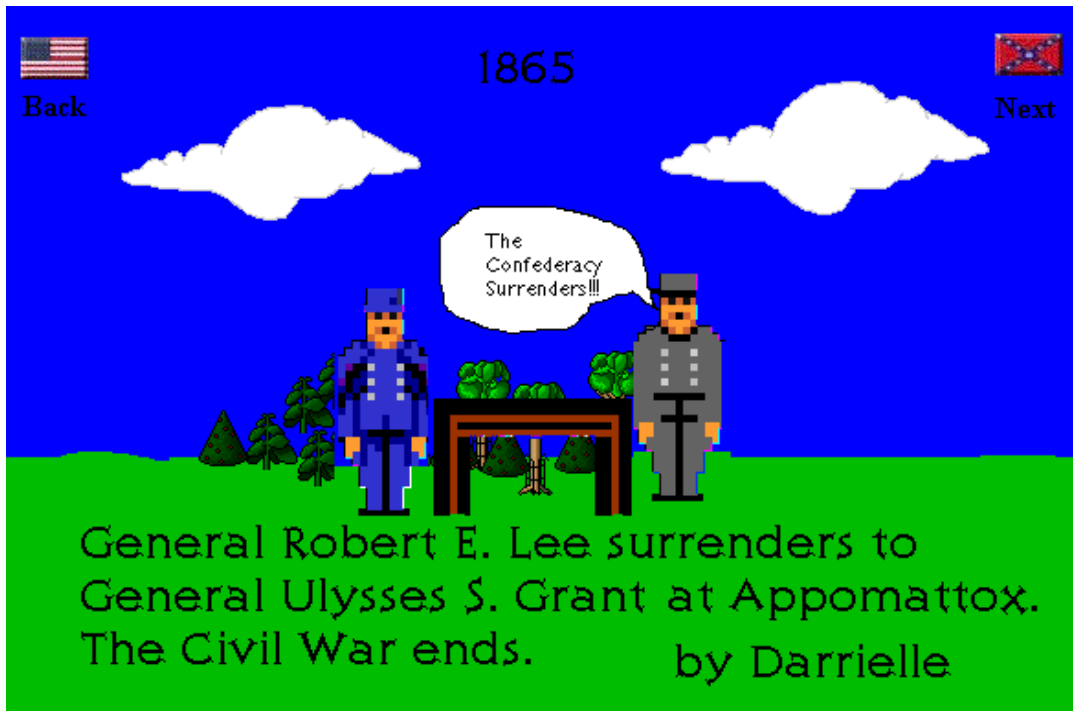

1864

Back

Next

An illustration depicting the destruction of a town and railroad in 1864. The scene is set against a blue sky with large, grey, billowing clouds. In the foreground, a railroad train is shown on a track, consisting of a black steam locomotive, a black tank car, a red passenger car, and a green freight car with a white letter 'A' on its side. The train is positioned on a green grassy area. To the left of the train, there is a yellow and black railroad crossing sign and a red signal light. The background shows a town that has been completely destroyed. Numerous houses, trees, and buildings are shown as charred remains with bright orange and yellow flames rising from them. The town is situated on a green hillside. In the top left corner, there is a small American flag and the word 'Back'. In the top right corner, there is a small Confederate flag and the word 'Next'. The year '1864' is centered at the top of the illustration.

Cities, towns and railroads from Atlanta to Savannah, Georgia are destroyed. Darrielle

1865

Back

Next

The Confederacy Surrenders!!!

General Robert E. Lee surrenders to General Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox. The Civil War ends. by Darrielle

HOME