Daniel's family belonged to through the Cumberland Gap.

The Boone children once exposed themselves to smallpox.
deliberately

Daniel's mother using Conestoga wagons.

When they grew up, the Boone married outside the Quaker children faith.

The family traveled by

During the French and Indian War Boone drove an army supply wagon.

They crossed the Appalachian taught him to read, spell, and Mountains write.

Boone and twenty-eight men made a religious group called the Quakers.

While Daniel searched for new crossed the Appalachian hunting grounds Mountains.

In 1767 Daniel and his oldest son Rebecca cared for the large family.

The Indians didn't want the settlers a road from Virginia to Kentucky.

Black Fish gave Daniel Boone to intrude on their hunting grounds.